App/Group: International Student Assist

Members: Libby Blair, Paul Whitman, Louis Echegu, Marvin Battley

Positioning Statement: International Student Assist

The problem of the complexity of applying to US universities affects international students who want to attend US academic institutions, the impact of which is fewer students choosing to study in the US and smaller international student populations on US campuses. Those campuses lose revenue as a result. A successful solution would be International Student Assist, an app which provides links to all steps of the application process and helps students and administrators keep track of important documents.
